All desiring the pension can obtain it, by applying to me in person at my office, or by letter.

POTATOES—WHAT SHALL WE PLANT?

Mr. Editor:—Having experimented with many varieties of potatoes for the last thirty-five years, I feel somewhat prepared to offer a few suggestions in relation to some of the different sorts, and which are best for present cultivation, for home use and the market. In some respects potatoes are like the human species. Some families are feeble and short lived. Others seem healthy while young, but die early. Again some are prolific; the Irish race, proverbially so. Others in the opposite extreme:

Potatoes show all these different conditions precisely. I proved this fact in the following manner. Some ten years ago I commenced to collect all the different varieties I could hear of. Getting some thirty or forty sorts I commenced to exhibit them at the Agricultural Fairs every autumn. I found here the passage of Scripture, "To him that hath shall be given," literally verified.

People coming along to see them would say, "Well, where did you get so many kinds of potatoes?" Now I have a very wonderful kind which I want you to have." In a few years my variety run up to 100 and 140 different sorts. At a State Fair in Bangor, I competed successfully with the State College and got the first premium of $6.00. The wonder was, how I could keep so many different varieties separate. I planted one hill of each kind and labeled it plainly. The potatoes were all put in one row, each hill being prepared exactly alike and receiving the same cultivation during the season. At harvesting, the best potato was taken from each hill and carefully labeled, with name written on a strip of paper and pasted on; then I was prepared for the show. Did the premium pay? Of course not. But I have received full pay in another way. I found on digging these potatoes that some sorts yielded heavily every year. The next question: are they good table potatoes and hardy? will they sell well in the market? These questions being decided in the affirmative, then immediately commenced to cultivate them as a principal crop. About five years ago I found in one variety two sorts which answered all these conditions and yielding a double crop side by side with the old sorts, (Early Rose and Jackson.) I am firmly convinced from this series of experiments that the best potatoes to plant this year for the market and other purposes are the Late Rose and Granite State. The Late Rose resembles very closely the Early Rose, grows larger and less small potatoes, as a table potato it has more character than the early sorts and holds out longer in the spring. It comes forward very rapidly when planted and is about ten to fifteen days later in ripening. There are kinds propagated called late Rose, which are spurious, and very poor potatoes, which should be carefully rejected.

The Granite States are a very white potato inside and out; resemble the Jacksons and grow but very few knobs; so that a hand of them readily commands the preference in market. They are a much better table potato than the Gronos and ripen in about the same time. They germinate quicker when planted, and are very hardy. These two varieties are now pretty generally planted, in this vicinity as a principal crop.

Ever the most skeptical got convertec one year ago and planted them. They have sold ready at my cellar for the last three years at an advance over Bangor prices, and I understand they (the Granite States) sell in Bangor now, at nearly double the price of Jacksons.

I have no axe to grind, but simply the truth to tell, in regard to these potatoes; and the facts can be vouched for by scores of farmers in this vicinity.

I speak in the interest of the farmers of this State, and since potatoes enter so largely as an article of export with us, it becomes a question of importance to propagate only the best kinds.

But before closing I wish to notice, in brief, a few of the standard varieties of the past forty years. The "Old Chenango" is the first potato of which I remember, and was raised largely in Waldo County, for shipping purposes. This was a really splendid potato, thin skinned and very fine grained—a beautiful table potato. The great potato disease of thirty-five years ago nearly exterminated them. They would not stand the disease; then, nor will they now, as we have proved in our experiments.

The Blue Christie seemed to be the only potato that could be cultivated for the next ten years. They would fairly defy the great disease of all such potatoes, tough skinned, hard and soggy; yet it was the best I could do and some people could not give them up as an article of food. The White Christie varies much from the Blue. The Oregon Red came next, something like the Christie yet an improvement. The Sebec Early was a large producing potato for an early one and of very good quality, yet tender as again at the disease.

The old-fashioned Jacksons were a new dispensation to the farmers. They were a fine grained and hardy potato and quite productive for an early potato. Soon came the Orono a much more prolific and not as good table potato which rapidly drove out the Jacksons and took their name.

It would be almost impossible to find a real Jackson now.

The next real acquisition appeared in the Early Rose. This is really an excellent potato, yet unless dressed highly they grow very small.

I have no doubt that the Late Rose is a branch of the Early Rose family as it is impossible to tell the difference, except in size.

I have experimented considerably with seedlings, but find it rather an up hill business for a poor man. The chances are not one in a thousand to get one worthy of cultivation.

I once raised a seedling which produced wonderfully for a few years, and then entirely dropped out.

I cannot advise farmers to try to raise seedlings, for most likely your time and trouble will be lost.

THE OLDTOWN CRUSADE.

ANNUAL REPORT OF THE OFFICERS.

OLDTOWN, April 15 h, 1878.

Sisters of the Crusade:

April seventh we closed our fifth year of labor and labor and commenced on a fifth.

We have th s year passed in der many dark clouds and over many rough ways. Have sometimes sunk deep into the slough of despond, and it has even seemed at times that heart and strength would fail, and the proud waters go over our soul—still do we have cause at this hour to take the cup of salvation and call on the name of the Lord, for He has done great things for us whereof we are glad.

We may not in this report enumerate our obstacles and discouragements, many of them are well known to some perhaps too well known already. We would learn to cast all our cares on Him who careth for us, and bring our trials to Him who's ear is ever open to the complaints of His children and surely never did, and never will an individual, or an organization undertake to wage aggressive warfare against an exciting evil, and find it a mere calm delight, or holiday entertainment. All who are sincere in enlisting in the temperance cause, are prepared to endure labor, sacrifice, even peril and persecution as necessities of a contest with evil. No one denies the blessing of temperance or the curse of intemperance, but scarce any two are agreed in adopting any special method of promoting the one or destroying the other.

The institution of the crusade came in no way as a plan or policy but as an inspiration—a B essing that fell on the earth out of the sky, and thank God still remains as a light in the world, and we trust ever will, till the dark mes shall flee away. Our special work of prayer and persuasion—the call that sounds in the open door of Providence and says, "whosoever will may come"; this work has been kept alive another year in Oldtown by a few loyal to the impulse and conviction that three years ago kindled in their hearts by fire from Heaven.

All the regular meetings of the Crusade have been sustained this year without an omission. The Monday evening public meetings have never missed a session, and the attendance has been fuller, more constant and certain than ever before. It has been attended especially by a large number of young men and boys, and though we have had constantly to regret, we had not more entertainment, instruction and encouragement for them, their interest in coming has never abated, and we trust a good influence has been given, some of our reformed men have been bra and constant in their helpful presence and faithful words of testimony, and many others have been strictly faithful to their Pledge. Quite a number of names have been added to our already full pledge, from each of whom we demand constancy to the obligation they have given us, while we on our part pledge to meet them with our prayers and friendship. We have furnished a number of able and interesting lecture and large mass meetings in the Town Hall, which we believe have not been without benefit to our whole town. Indeed we believe that the work of the Crusade though it may have been considered humble and of little consequence has had material influence in promoting physical comfort, good order and raising the scale of intelligence, morals and religion in Oldtown. In promoting this work we have to acknowledge many kind favors. During the past year the Town has been liberal in furnishing a Hall for public meetings. The clergymen have always shown cordial kindness in giving our own notices. Our prayer meetings were very much aided by the presence of Rev. Mr. Thomas of the Congregational church and Rev. Mr. Brown of the Methodist church during all the time they were in town, and it is with deepest regret mingled with grateful obligation, that we mourn the death of the latter friend and helper of our cause. Rev. Mr. Smith, pastor of the Universalist church, has since his coming in town, given us the right hand of a brother for efficient service. The Eastern Temple of Honor have shown great kindness in offering the free use of their Hall for our Monday evening meetings during the coming year. And we have especially to return thanks for the universal and most liberal response of our people in making our Anniversary Festival just held a success for mutual enjoyment, encouragement and substantial help. For the same service, and for many kind tokens of sympathy and aid, we have to acknowledge our indebtedness to the Bangor Crusade and Reform Club; also to the St John's Total Abstinence Society for the r presence and assistance in our Anniversary Festival.

And now, as our year closes, crowned with success, going forward to another of prayer, anxiety and labor, we thank God and take courage.

Respectfully submitted,

By order of Executive Committee.

A wary policeman at Lewiston, saw a suspicious looking box among the packages of the Mercantile express. He took it up and upon shaking it a suspicious rattling sound was heard. The box was addressed to a prominent firm in that city, but the officer knew that the firm of the name mentioned were various, and confiscated the package. He took it to the police station, nervously pried off the cover and discovered 3—several dozen Bibles.

About 6 o'clock Monday morning an alarm of fire was sounded at R. C. Pingree & Co's saw mill, at Kew Dorn, proceeding from fire in the roof of one of Messrs. Newman & Lara's tee houses a few hundred feet south-west of the mill. A stream was at once started from the force pumps of the mill and the fire soon extinguished after a little daylight had been let through the roof. It is supposed the fire caught from sparks from the steam mill chimney. The fire department were promptly on hand, but fortunately its services were not required. Mr Lara hippened to be at work near his co-house at the time of the alarm, and promptly took measures to give the hay over the ice a thorough drenching.

The Argus says that the sexton of the Congregational church in Gray, Sunday evening, had lighted all but one of the kerosene lamps in the large chandelier, suspended in the centre of the audience room, when suddenly the iron rod gave way, and the chandelier fell to the floor with a crash, broken glass and blazing oil flying in all directions. There were a few persons in the church by whose efforts and those of the sexton the flames were extinguished, but not before between $100 and $200 worth of damage had been done to the pews, curtains, &c.

Lumbering at the head waters of the Kennebec and tributaries has been good the past winter, and if favorable weather follows for getting out the drives of logs, the mills along the river will soon be driving. There has not been a sufficient rise of water to start the logs out of the smaller streams, unless the recent rise was different. Probably the large mills will not start much before June.

Last Friday morning Mr. H. Vose, the keeper of the jail at Machias, was going his rounds, Moses Barsley who was serving an alternative sentence after ranning away from the Reform School struck him on the back of the head stunning him severely, then, with the ass stance of a fellow named Knight they locked him into a cell. The door leading to the jail was locked inside so that no one could get in. An alarm was raised and an excited crowd soon assembled with shooting irons. Soon however, Chas Handy, a former employee, found a key and opened the door, at which those engaged fled to their cells. The gaolbirds soon found themselves in separate dungeons.

WHAT DO YOU CALL IT?

Loud calls come from various stalwart organs for a morning edition of the Traveller. This is a base attempt to set up a rival to THE BANGOR WHIG, whose able editor, we are glad to see, has recovered his health. The proof of his convalescence appears in his accusing the Herald of "moral mendacity," "deliberately fabricating," and a lot of such offences. What, more could a morning edition of the Traveller say?—Boston Herald.

What less could it say and be truthful? The Herald charged Senator Blaine with "a defense of Jay Gould" and declaring that he was "not so black as he is painted," and represented Senator Edmunds as rebuking Mr. Blaine for this language. The Record shows that the only eulogy of Jay Gould was uttered by Senator Edmunds himself, and that the Herald took the words directly from his mouth and charged them upon Senator Blaine. If that performance could be more fitly characterized by any other words than "cool mendacity" or "deliberately fabricating," we do not know where to find them. And the Herald has not even attempted a correction, after exposure has removed all pretext of ignorance. If Senator Blaine had used such language as was uttered by Senator Edmunds, glowingly referring to his long acquaintance with Jay Gould as an "amiable and estimable gentleman," who was "not so black as he is painted," and whose continued control of the Pacific Railroad would afford guarantee of the integrity and ability of its management, how the morning, and forenoon, and noon, and afternoon editions of the Herald would have teemed with insinuation and abuse. As the facts were the other way, that paper coolly shouldered Mr. Edmunds' talk upon Mr. Blaine and then patted the former on the back. Perhaps the Herald will inform us what words it would choose to characterize its own performance.

THE TILTON SENSATION.

AN INTERVIEW WITH MR. BEECHER.

The New York Times publishes the following report of an interview with Mr. Beecher, at Waverly, N. Y., Monday evening:

Mr. Beecher lectured in this place this evening. On coming down from the platform he had placed in his hands a telegraphic copy of Mrs Tilton's confession. He read it quietly, and seemed in no wise excited.

In reply to my question what he intended to do, he said, "Nothing at present, except to give it an explicit denial." He seemed to be more sorry for Mrs. Tilton than troubled about himself.

I asked him: 'Do you believe Mrs. Tilton wrote this of her own mind, or was she influenced?' He answered: "I have not spoken with Mrs. Tilton for over two years. I was informed several months ago that influences were being exerted through children and others, to effect a reconciliation with her husband, and that she energetically refused to consider it until he had publicly exonerated her from the charges brought against her. It was only a few weeks ago that the rumor came to me that she was in a morbid and self-condemnatory state of mind."

Question—Has Mrs. Tilton ever intimated a consciousness of guilt before?

Answer—So far from it that it is impossible to conceive. If her present confession is true, of such an elaborate, prolonged, and extraordinary career of falsehood as she must have practiced. Upon her husband's statement of his accusations before the committee of the church she broke away from her husband's house and refused to live with him. She took refuge in the house of a dear friend, to whom she gave in unvarying testimony of her own innocence—the baseness of her husband. She went before the Investigating Committee of Plymouth church, and with wonderful pathos cleared herself of every charge of domestic infidelity, and underwent the closest questioning. She broke friendship with former friends for doubting her statement in this matter. When the case was in the court, after her husband's testimony in the surprise of my counsel and of all her friends, she rose in the court and demanded of the Judge that she be permitted to testify to her innocence. She was examined repeatedly by my counsel and pried with the most searching questions, and by her consistent and explicit testimony satisfied them all of her innocence and won their esteem. When the council of 1876 was called, several interviews were arranged between her and eminent gentlemen, both of the clergy and of the law. In every case she satisfied them of her absolute innocence. Subsequently to that, at an interview arranged for the purpose of giving prominence to her declarations and form to her testimony, which was taken down by a short-hand writer, and which I believe to be still in existence, although I have never seen it, she elaborately and in detail reaffirmed her innocence and mine. These are the most prominent instances of her uniform testimony. It should be borne in mind that she first charged me with this offense to her husband. Upon my visiting her she withdrew it in writing. She subsequently renewed the charge. She then again and indignantly denied it, and left her husband's house, and for four years has continued, in every conceivable form and under the most solemn circumstances, to deny it until now, when once again, for the third time, she renews it. Against this long and torturous career, I oppose my unform and unimpeachable truthfulness.

MRS. TILTON'S EXPLICIT AND SOLEMN DECLARATIONS OF GUILT.

On Thursday, July 23, 1874, Mrs. Tilton, in her statement to the Investigating Committee of Plymouth Church, said:

To pick up anew the sorrows of the last 13 years, the stings and pains I had daily schooled myself to bury and forget, makes this imperative duty, as called forth by the malicious statement of my husband, the saddest act of my life. * * * The reiteration in his statement that he had "persistently striven to hide" these so-called facts is utterly false, as his hatred to Mr. Beecher has existed these many years, and the determination Mr. Beecher to him has been the one aim of his life. * * * Notwithstanding all misrepresentations and anguish of soul, I owe to my acquaintances and friendship with Mr. Beecher, as to no other human instrumentality, that encouragement in my mental life, and that growth toward the divine nature, which enable me to walk daily in a lively hope of the life beyond. * * * The shameless charges in Articles 7, 8, and 9 are fearfully false in each and every particular. The letter referred to in Mr. Tilton's tenth paragraph was obtained from me by importunity, and by representations that it was necessary for him to use in his then pending difficulties with Mr. Bowen. I was then sick, nigh unto death, having suffered a miscarriage only four days before. I signed whatever he required, without knowing or understanding its import. The paper I have never seen and do not know what statements it contained. * * * The implication that the harmony of our home was unbroken till Mr. Beecher entered it as a frequent guest and friend is a lamentable satire upon the household where he is myself, years before, laid the corner stone of free love, and desecrated its altars up to the time of my departure; so that the atmosphere was not only godless but impure for my children.

In summing up the whole matter, I affirm myself before God to be innocent of the crimes laid upon me; that never have I been guilty of adultery with Henry Ward Beecher in thought or deed, nor has he ever offered to me an indecorous or improper proposal. To the further charge that I was led away from home by Mr Beecher's friends, and by the advice of a lawyer whom Mr. Beecher had sent to me, and who, in advance of my appearing before the committee, arranged with me the questions and answers which were, to constitute my testimony in Mr. Beecher's behalf, I answer, that this is again untrue.

ELIZABETH R. TILTON.

Mrs. Tilton's original "retraction" was as follows:

Wearied with importunity, and weakened by sickness, I gave a letter implicating my friend, Henry Ward Beecher, under assurances that that would remove all difficulties between me and my husband. That letter I now revoke. I was persuaded to it—almost forced—when I was in a weakened state of mind. I regret it, and recall all its statements. E. R. TILTON.

I desire to say, explicitly, Mr. Beecher has never offered any improper solicitation, but has always treated me in a manner becoming a Christian and a gentleman.

ELIZABETH R. TILTON.

The following letter, without date, Moulton says was written in the fall of 1872, when the scandal was exciting discussion:

Mr. Moulton:

My Dear Friend.—For my husband's sake and my children's, I hereby testify, with all my woman's soul, that I am innocent of the crime of impure conduct alleged against me. I have been to my husband a true wife.

Toward the close of the trial in Brooklyn, on the 3d of May, just after the Court was opened, Mrs. Tilton surprised everybody by rising and calling Judge Neilson by name, and saying she wished him to read a communication which she sent him. The Judge laid it aside and subsequently returned it to Mrs. Tilton, with a note from the Clerk stating that under the law her testimony could not be admitted. Mrs. Tilton then published the letter which was as follows:

BROOKLYN, May 3d, 1875.

To Judge Neilson: I ask the privilege from you of a few words in my own behalf. I feel very deeply the injustice of my position in the law and before the court now sitting; and while I have understood and respected from the beginning Mr. Evarts' principle in the matter, yet, since your last decision, I have been so sensible of the power of my enemies, that my soul cries out before you, and the gentlemen of the jury, that they beware how, by a divided verdict, they consign to my children a false and irredeemable stain upon their mother.

For five years I have been the victim of circumstances most cruel and unfortunate; struggling from time to time only for a place to live honorably and truthfully. Relieved for some months from it by a sudden and unexpected, but most seasonable termination of my connection with Theodore Tilton, I emerged again and again, I declare to enmity before you without fear of man, and by faith in God, that I am innocent of the crime charged against me. I would like to tell my whole sad story; truthfully to acknowledge the frequent, terrible wrong from me by compulsion, though at the same time unwilling to reveal the secret of my married life, which only the vital importance of my position makes necessary.

I assume the entire responsibility of this request, unknown to friend or counsel of either side, and await your Honor's honorable decision. With great respect,

ELIZABETH R. TILTON.

THE NEW DOORKEEPER.

The new Doorkeeper of the House, the ex-Confederate General Field, has appointed some of the "cripples and disabled" soldiers whom Mr. Frye immortalized in his speech ten days ago, to be his aids-de-camp. "James G. Knight," said Mr. Frye, "was a soldier in 1861, sprained his ankle while drilling, served until 1864 after he had sprained his ankle, is crippled and disabled Democratic soldier." The following is Mr. Knight's account of himself given in his testimony before the Polk Investigating Committee:

"State what was your service in the Union army of the United States during the war of the rebellion."

"I went into the 3d Wisconsin Regiment, one of the first of the three-years regiments that were organized, and I was in the service until January, 1864, pretty nearly four years."

"Were you crippled or disabled by wounds during the war?"

"Not by wounds; I was injured; the ligs, in my legs."

"To what extent?"

"Well, not to any very considerable extent, but to that by spells I am lame."

"How did it happen?"

"By turning my ankle in drilling. It has been swollen ever since."

"Do you consider yourself a disabled soldier?"

"Well I don't know what the definition of it at would be. I considered myself a soldier, and was disabled in the army. Never disabled to the extent of being unfit for ordinary occupation, but so as not to be fit for hard manual work."

"You suffered constantly more or less?"

"Yes sir."

"At times very much?"

"Yes, sir; I have to be very careful about my feet."

"How long did it lay you up?"

"I was laid up then for a few weeks, and it has always been an injury to me since."

"Were you able to walk on it then two or three weeks after the injury?"

"I was able to walk with a lame in that time."

"When was it?"

"In 1861."

"And you served until 1864?"

"Yes, sir, but not on foot—on a horse."

"You were in an infantry regiment?"

"Yes, sir; the 3d Wisconsin."

"How then did you get on a horse?"

"I was made quartermaster of the regiment."

Mr. Knight was placed on the soldiers' roll by Colonel Polk, the late Doorkeeper, and some of the Democrats seem to think, to-day, that no matter what Mr. Knight's merits may be, after all the ridicule they have suffered because of the consideration of the soldiers' roll, the new Doorkeeper, considering the circumstances under which he was appointed, might have saved them a reopening of this case.

We thought so! The brief and delicate card sent out by Mrs. Tilton is but the prelude to a grand Tilconian banquet of filth. During the trial Mrs. Tilton's brother named Richards, persistently asserted her guilt, and she declared that he slandered her. We are now told that he felt very bad to have his veracity assailed by the sister upon whom he sought to fasten disgrace, that he has lost his place in the Custom House, and that his sister has now ordered to make reparation for his troubles by sending him a long "statement" which is soon to be made public, presumably for a handsome price from some newspaper, giving full and interesting details of the criminality with which she has now charged herself! What a brother and sister! One can hardly believe in the actual existence of these people.

The proposed platform which is reported in our despatches to have received the approval of the President, resembles that put forward the other day by Harper's Weekly, in that it entirely omits the cardinal principles of the Republican Party viz.: National supremacy and allegiance, and full protection of the equal and political rights of all citizens. Why is it that all the "policy" people so carefully ignore the life and soul of Republicanism?

Whether votes can be gained by compliments the President upon the peaceful condition of things in the Southern States, where the Republican party has become extinct, is a matter for the Republicans of each State to determine for themselves. In Rhode Island the matter was ignored as the shortest way out of the difficulty. —New Haven Palladium.

"Perley" telegraphs the Boston Journal, which is strongly anti-Beecher, as follows from Washington:

The last chapter in the Beecher scandal has been much discussed at the capital, and the general opinion is that it helps the case of Mr. Beecher, while it reflects additional discredit upon Tilton.

CONKLING INTERVIEWED.

HIS OPINIONS OF THE ADMINISTRATION.

VERY EXPLICIT AND EMPHATIC LANGUAGE.

A portion of the following report of interviews with Senator Conkling was received from New York by Associated Press on Wednesday morning too late for publication in that issue. We present it below with the additional portions received since:

The New York World of Wednesday contains a long and important letter from its Utica, N. Y., correspondent, it being the sum of a series of interviews with Senator Conkling, if the subject may be so called, at intervals during the past few months. The relations between the correspondent and Senator Conkling, the World says, were such as made entire frankness necessary on the part of the latter said, the World adds that, the correspondent's name will be forthcoming if the subject ever occasion for publish ng it should arise. In the interviews the Senator spoke with the utmost freedom about the successive steps that led to the formation of the Electoral Commission, the part had in it by the prominent Democrat and Republican members of Congress and by President Hayes and his friends. In the course of the interview the World correspondent asked:—

Well Senator I would like to know whether you think the true history of the Louisiana Electoral business will ever be told in Congress and I so how soon?

Mr. Conkling paused a moment then he began very slowly warming up with the subject as he proceeded. Yes, I think it will. I do not see how it can be kept down. No reasonable man can doubt that there was some kind of a bargain between the friends of Nicholls and that Hayes and that Stanley Matthews and Sherman were privy to it. I cannot say how soon the facts will come out for something may occur any day to force them to the surface. It will probably be best to let them come out naturally.

What will be the result?

The result will be that the whole country will be appalled by the dishonor of this administration. I tell you, sir, that never in the history of this nation has there been in the entire four years of an administration so much of corruption, bartering of offices, rewarding of political leaders, and bargains and sale of the Electoral franchise as during this past year. The people will be astounded when the truth comes out hereafter. The people say Hayes is a good man and means well, but they do not know what they are talking about. When all the facts are known about the administration no one will attempt to excuse the man on account of his supposed goodness, nor on the ground that he is weak and ignorant. The acts that have disgraced this administration have all been done before the opened eyes of the President. Conkling goes on to review at great length the history of the Electoral Commission and he says that the country was in actual danger. The point of peril was not in the South, but in the West. It was understood that the Republican leaders had determined to have Vice President Ferry count the votes at all hazards and declare Hayes elected and the West was determined on resistance. General Steedman had 70,000 men enrolled and assigned to regiments for the purpose of seating Tilden in office in case Vice President Ferry carried out his programme. President Grant was at his wits end. He confessed to me that he did not know what to do. He was gathering some troops at, or near Washington, but he did not know how far he could depend on them. General Sherman felt the imminence of trouble the sympathies of a large majority of the officers and soldiers of the regular army would be with Tilden, and the army must not be taken into consideration as a dependance in any such crisis. From these facts and from what was threatened and prophesied publicly in those days, you can imagine how gloomy the outlook was at the Republican councils. The President asked my advice and I frankly told him I did not believe Vice President Ferry, had any power to declare the vote, but could merely act in a clerical capacity to open the envelopes and lay the votes of the Electoral College before the Joint Convention of the two Houses for their action and, by the way, I may as well state here that when a certain Senator came to me and said it was proposed to make me President of the Senate in Mr. Ferry's place, so the thing should not miss fire, I frankly told him that I could not accept the position and that by my interpretation of the constitution I should be compelled to rule it null and void

DOMESTIC NEWS.

FORTY-FIFTH CONGRESS. Second Session.

Senate.

WASHINGTON, April 17.

The Vice President (Wheeler) being absent Mr. Ferry was elected President pro tem.

Mr. Windom, Chairman of the Committee on Appropriations, submitted a concurrent resolution directing the President of the Senate and Speaker of the House to declare their respective houses adjourned without day on the 10th of June at 1 o'clock. Agreed to unanimously.

After a brief discussion, by a vote of 38 to 17 the Senate indefinitely postponed Mr. Burnside's bill to remove all restrictions now existing in regard to enlistments of colored citizens in any arm of the U. S. Service.

The following is the full text of the bill agreed upon by the Senate Finance Committee to-day and reported to the Senate with favorable recommendation: An act to amend an act to provide for the resumption of specie payments and for other purposes. That from and after the passage of this act United States notes shall be receivable in payment for United States bonds now authorized by law to be issued, and on and after Oct. 1st, 1878, said notes shall be receivable for duties on imports, and said notes in the volume in existence on October 1st, 1878, shall not be cancelled, or permanently hoarded, but shall be re-issued, and they may be used for funding and all other lawful purposes whatever, to an amount not exceeding in the whole the amount then in circulation and in the Treasury, and the said notes whether then in the Treasury or thereafter received under any act of Congress and from whatever source, shall be again paid out, and when returned to the Treasury they shall not be cancelled, or destroyed, but shall be issued from time to time with like qualities; and all that part of the act of January 14th, 1875 entitled "an act to provide for the resumption of specie payments, authorizing the retirement of 80 per cent. of United States notes," shall cease and become inoperative on and after said October 1st, 1878.

Section 2—All laws and parts of laws inconsistent with this act shall be and are hereby repealed. Bill ordered to be placed on calendar. The bill was reported as a substitute for the House bill, repealing the specie resumption act.

Mr. Burnside called up the bill introduced by him to remove all restrictions now existing in regard to the enlistments of colored citizens in any arm of the army, the pending question being on the motion of Mr. Blaine to indefinitely postpone the bill.

Mr. Blaine said it was the general judgment of both sides of the chamber that the passage of this bill would be the end of the colored man in the army, though he knew it was not the intention of the Senator from Rhode Island. Believing that would be the result of the bill he was totally opposed to it.

The motion of Mr. Blaine to indefinitely postpone the bill was agreed to. Yeas 37; nays 12.

Mr. Beck submitted the following:

That the Secretary of the Treasury be directed to furnish the Senate with all information in possession of his department, as to the total consumption of all manufactured articles to which tariff duties apply, including those imported as well as those produced in this country, with the proportion of each.

Mr. Dorsey submitted a resolution calling on the Secretary of the Interior for copies of all decisions of that department relative to the right of Indians to impose taxes on Indian territory. Agreed to.

Mr. Sargent called up his joint resolution authorizing the President to appoint a commission to arrange a treaty with the kingdom of Corea, and it was referred to the Committee on Foreign Relations.

The Chair laid before the Senate the order adopted yesterday providing for consideration of resolutions and bills on the calendar. The first resolution was that by Mr. Voorhees on the 13th of December last declaring it of the highest importance that the financial credit of the Government be maintained, and in order to do so the Government itself in all its departments should in good faith keep all its contracts and obligations entered into with its own citizens. After some discussion the resolution was agreed to unanimously.

Several bills on the calendar were passed including the Senate bill extending the act of July 2, 1862, donating public lands to the several States and Territories which may provide colleges for the benefit of agriculture and the mechanic arts to Colorado.

The Senate went into Executive session and when the doors were reopened adjourned.

House.

The bill repealing the act authorizing the coining of 20 cent silver pieces, passed.

Mr. Phillips reported from the Banking Committee a bill providing for the deposit of savings in popular loans and for funding the National debt in home bonds. It provides that any person may deposit money in any sum of not less than 25 cts. at any postal money order office and when such deposits shall reach sums of $10 the postmaster shall issue to the depositor a postal order on the United States Treasury, which shall issue therefor 3.65 bonds, which shall be exempt from all taxes. Referred to the Committee of the Whole.

A number of bills were reported from the Committee on the Pacific Railroad and referred to the Committee of the Whole; among them the pro rata bill, the bill establishing a Pacific Railroad Commission and a bill amending the Pacific Railroad acts.

Mr. Hartzell from the Committee on Banking, reported back the bill authorizing the deposit of silver bullion and issue of certificates therefor. Referred to the Committee of the Whole and made a special order for May 9th.

At the expiration of the morning hour a message was received from the Senate announcing that that body adopted a resolution for the final adjournment of Congress on June 10th. The announcement was received with applause.

Mr. O'Neil desired to call up the resolution for present consideration, but the House proceeded to the business on the Speaker's table and disposed thereof as follows:

The Senate bill for the transfer to the City of Brooklyn of lands at Wallabout Bay was referred to the Committee on Naval affairs. The concurrent resolution for final adjournment of Congress on the 10th of June.

Mr. Wood moved its reference to the Committee on Ways and Means. Defeated yeas, 107; nays 129.

Mr. Wood thereupon moved to postpone further consideration of the resolution till the 3d Monday in May.

Mr. Wright, of Pa., moved to postpone till this day week.

Mr. O'Niel moved that the resolution be concurred in.

The Speaker having caused several rules to be read, gave precedence to O'Neil's motion.

Mr. Wright moved to reconsider the vote refusing to refer the resolution.

Mr. Garfield moved to lay that motion on the table.

Mr. Springer interposed his motion to adjourn. Rejected, yeas 87; nays 14.

Mr. Clark of Mo., moved that when the House adjourn to-day, it adjourn to Monday. Rejected on a yea and nay vote.

After two hours spent in voting on these and other dilatory motions, on which the anti-tariff Democrats voted with the Republicans in order to force an early adjournment. Mr. Durham presented the conference report on the deficiency bill for temporary clerks in the Treasury Dept and to protect the timber lands. He explained the compromises on which the Conference Committee had come together. All these items were small, but there were two items, however, on which the committee had not been able to agree; one as to postal clerks and the other as to special agents of the Internal Revenue Department.

Another motion to adjourn was made, and again resisted on the Republican side although the Speaker in response to inquiries said the conference report and resolution for adjournment would come up again to-morrow under the previous question. A vote was taken by yeas and nays and decided in the affirmative 109 to 95.

The House thereupon at six o'clock adjourned.

After the adjournment a Democratic caucus was announced for to-night.

POLITICAL.

A Meeting at Simon Cameron's.

NEW YORK, April 17. The Herald says a number of Pennsylvania Republicans assembled at Simon Cameron's house, in Harrisburg, Monday night to discuss the policy to be pursued by the party in dealing with the issues raised by the attitude of President Hayes. A proposition was submitted that the convention ought to ignore Hayes and omit all reference to him in the platform. This called out some opposition, and quite a number of the minority proposed the endorsement of Hayes by the party. Hereupon Kemble took the floor and indignantly denounced any such proceedings. He not only did not favor endorsing Hayes but thought those present who espoused the policy of the President should leave the House. Nearly a dozen immediately took their hats and vacated the premises.

An Ohio Platform that Pleases the President.

NEW YORK, April 17. It is stated that the President read the following platform from an Ohio newspaper to the Cabinet yesterday, saying nothing yet so fully met his views:—

First—Resumption of specie payments in gold and silver.

Second—Resistance to all schemes for inflating the present volume of currency.

Third—A fair and moderate tariff that will afford a reasonable protection to American industries.

Fourth—An amendment to the Constitution prohibiting the use of money raised by taxation for the support of sectarian schools.

Fifth—The speedy completion of all public works, such as river and harbor improvements, public buildings and fortifications, now that labor and material are cheap and workingmen need employment, and a liberal policy for the improvement of great national channels of commerce like the Mississippi River and its tributaries.

Secretary McCrary suggested that there ought to be a clause added declaring opposition in emphatic terms, to the payment of all claims of disloyal citizen for damages and losses growing out of the war, and payment of pensions to persons disloyal during the war.

With this amendment, which the Cabinet present all accepted, the resolutions were pronounced very proper and a complete presentation of the views of the Administration.

The Policies Denounced, by the N. Y. Republican Central Committee.

The New York Republican Central Committee met Tuesday night, and resolutions were offered indorsing the speech of Senator Howe of Wisconsin delivered recently on the President's policies of conciliation and civil service reform; also favoring a fair treatment of the South, but opposed to the ignoble surrender of the principle for peace and conciliation; also favoring honest civil service reform, and protesting against the bestowing of official positions or friends under the false cry of reform, and, finally, warning all Republicans that the principles of the party are not forgotten nor concealed through the indecision of weak leaders or the devices of designing men. Several speeches were made on the resolutions, and William A. Darling denounced the civil service reform of the administration as a sham, a fraud and a humbug. The resolutions were finally referred to a committee, with instructions to report at the next meeting on them.

THE CONKLING INTERVIEWS.

Mr. Conkling's Opinion of Dawes, Hoar, and Burnside, the Administration Champions.

NEW YORK, April 17. In an interview Senator Conkling spoke of Matthews, Christiancy, Dawes, Hoar, Burnside, Conover and Patterson, as the seven Republican Senatorial supporters of Hayes. He spoke of the three New Englanders as follows: After a great deal of hesitation; Senators Dawes and Hoar, appear to have cast in their lots with the Administration though their State is decidedly against combination. You remember that when the State Convention of Massachusetts was held at Worcester, last fall, Senator Hoar refused to preside because it was understood a resolution endorsing the Administration was to be passed. About that time the President made his trip to Boston and while there he sent for Hoar and requested him to preside as a personal favor to himself. Of course, I do not know to a certainty what arguments were used, but it was rumored that Collector Simmons was to be guillotined and that the spoils of office in the State were to be divided by the two Senators, mind this is only rumor, but coincidences that have followed the adhesion of these gentlemen to the Administration faction have been curious and suggestive. Collector Simmons has gone and the two Massachusetts Senators seem to be consulted about all changes in their State. I nearly forgot Burnside. He is one of the President's men. Nobody seems to take the trouble to inquire why except I have heard it said he likes to be noticed by the President and to say that Hayes once served under him. Burnside is as weak a man in civil life as in the army and amounts to nothing in the Senate except his vote. I don't believe he could tell anybody why he supports the Administration. That is all the following Mr. Hayes has among the Republican Senators from the North and you see this is nothing to boast of considering that the President professes to be a Republican, and has been in office a year and holds an immense official patronage in his hands.

The agent of the Boston Life Insurance Company is here seeking information as to Capt. Clark of the scuttled schooner E. H. Pray, as Clark's father claims $2000 from the Life Insurance Company on the ground that the Captain was murdered. Evidence is said to be forthcoming that Clark was seen in Hoboken after the schooner sank.

WILLIAM M. TWEED.

The Funeral.

NEW YORK, April 17. The funeral of Tweed took place this morning, none being permitted to enter the house unless personal friends of the family or intimates of Tweed. The body was enclosed in an oak casket six feet four inches long, twenty-two inches wide and eighteen inches deep, covered with black velvet. A silver plate bore the inscription Wm M. Tweed, died April 12, 1878 aged 55 years. The body was dressed in a black suit. The features were life like. The floral decorations were few. The family consisted of Mr. and Mrs. Douglas, George McGinnis, and wife, the youngest daughter of Mr. Tweed, the latter having only just arrived from New Orleans. Among those who attended the funeral were John D. Townsend, Coroner Weltman, ex-Superintendent Kelso, Sheriff Reilley, Comptroller Kelly, Police Inspector McDermott and several other old personal and political friends of Tweed. The venerable Dr. Price of Stetson Island who performed the marriage ceremony of Tweed officiated at the service over the body. After the service the relatives, pall bearers and few friends of the family followed the body to Greenwood Cemetery. There were not more than a dozen carriages in the funeral procession. Ex-Judge Scott, Charles Devlin, M. Edelstein, Barney Kelly, George Butts, Charles G Cornell, Foster Dewey and Wm. W. Adams were pall bearers.

FOREIGN NEWS.

THE SITUATION UNCHANGED.

Reports, Opinions and Talk.

Various Matters.

LONDON, April 17. Parliament separates for the Easter recess, under the conviction that the emergency is not greater than a few weeks ago.

News from various centres of interest is not reassuring. A semi-official despatch from Calcutta to-day says: The Indian Government received orders to send troops to Malta. The Assistant Quartermaster, Commissary General at Calcutta, has gone to Malta to arrange for the reception of these troops.

A Constantinople despatch of the 16th says the contest in the Cabinet continues. Ahmed Vefek Effendi, President of the Council of Ministers, tendered his resignation on Monday, but withdrew it after a long conference with the Sultan and Safvet Pasha, President of the Council of State, and the refusal of Reouf Pasha and Mehemet Ruchdi Pasha to accept the Premiership. Mehemet Ruchdi Pasha has been appointed Minister without a portfolio.

Dissatisfaction with the Russians.

LONDON, April 17. Mr. Layard, British Ambassador at Constantinople, has gone to Ismid for two days. The Turks still occupy Batoum. It is untrue that the Russians have again asked permission to occupy Buyukdere, or are moving near Constantinople. Both from Vienna and St. Petersburg, come reports of great uneasiness and dissatisfaction in the latter city about the Russian position. Ill humor is directed against the Russian diplomatists for permitting military successes and military views to turn their heads, but England and Austria are also much blamed, the former for wishing to deprive Russia of those fruits of her victory which do not interfere with British interests, and Austria for exaggerating and exceeding the limits defined by her before the outbreak of the war, as conditions of her neutrality. The growing consciousness that and must be repaired, is regarded as a hopeful sign. The replacement of the Grand Duke Nicholas by Gen Todleben, if true, would show that the Russian Government, as a first step towards peace, intends to put the management of affairs at Constantinople into safe hands. The situation in Roumania seems becoming not less dangerous than at Stamboul. The Russians claim that the military convention with Roumania which gives them control of the communications, does not terminate until a definitive peace.

The Roumanians are Alarmed about the occupation of their country and the possibility of an attempt to disarm them, and have withdrawn their army into Little Wallachia, where they boast that they will make another Plevna if the Russians attack them.

Russian Occupations.

The Bucharest journals, referring to the Russian seizure of ammunition, ask why the Government has not troops at the station to protect its property. The Russians occupy the greater part of Roumanian Bessarabia and are entrenching the line of the Russian frontier prior to 1856.

The Situation Unchanged.

The St. Petersburg correspondent of the Times telegraphs as follows: The situation is unaltered, the conciliatory action of Germany continues, but so far without result. The difference in regard to submitting the whole treaty is declared to offer an insuperable obstacle to further negotiations in the direction hitherto followed. I am assured on good authority that Russia would consent to some new departure such as the taking of the treaties of 1856 and 1871, as a basis of discussion.

GREAT BRITAIN.

A Gigantic Strike of Mill Operatives Anticipated.

LONDON, April 17. The notices of a reduction of wages of the cotton operatives in Lancashire expired to-day and to-morrow there is little hope of avoiding a struggle which will involve the stoppage of 200,000 looms and 6,000,000 spindles and render idle 120,000 work people. A council of operative spinners after an interview with the masters yesterday, resolved to recommend that members accept the proposed reduction for the present and call a representative meeting of spinners for Sunday, to decide upon the future course of operatives at Arlington and District Church. Harwood, Enfield and Preston have reduced the time, but there is no hope of the masters accepting such a proposal. The Blackburn and Darnley operatives will resist uncompromisingly, consequently to-night in all probability will begin the most gigantic strike and lockout that ever occurred in the county of Lancaster. Loomis is not affected by the strike and will subscribe 3 pence per week for the strikers.

A SOCIAL GATHERING. The Press says: Dr. A. C. Hamlin, Mayor of Bangor, and Department Commander of the Grand Army of Maine arrived in Portland Tuesday afternoon. The comrades of Post Bosworth gathered at the hall that evening to entertain their guest. They met in the ladies reception room, and were entertained until a late hour with stories and songs. The evenings entertainment closed with a supper at Capt. Chase's saloon on Centre street. It was a very pleasant affair for one got up on so short a notice and will long be remembered by all.

The Parsonage in Brewer was the scene of a pleasant surprise on Tuesday evening. The ladies of the Union Circle gathered in good numbers for a picnic supper, after which Mr. T. E. Collins, in a graceful little speech, presented to the Pastor on behalf the ladies, a handsome lounge and music-stool, as a token of their esteem and affection, and appreciation of his labors among them for the past two years. This handsome and unexpected token of their kindness was gratefully acknowledged by the Pastor, who with his family, will ever carry with him a pleasant remembrance of his connection with the friends in Brewer.

A BOLD AFFAIR. Yesterday afternoon about half-past two o'clock a fellow entered a window in the ell of Mr. H. L. Lane's house on Spring street. He gained an entrance by the aid of a ladder, and passed through the house and entered the front chamber where Mrs. Lane was sitting. Hearing a noise she looked up and seeing this fellow standing in the room she screamed for help. The fellow then rapidly retreated and passing down the ladder made his escape. Mrs. Lane described him as being a young man about eighteen years of age.

A VILLAIN'S ANTECEDENTS.—The Dover Democrat says that Savage, the murderer of Rose Vincent, at Biddeford, is well known in Dover, having lived there a year ago or more. While there he went by the name of Young. He was a good-looking and smart-appearing man who wore a sort of navy uniform, not full and complete, but resembling the dress of the navy, and walked smartly about town with a nice cane. He behaved so well that he worked himself into the good graces and affections of a young lady, and it was understood they were to be married. The lady had a bank account with quite a sum in her favor, which she drew out, and then the rascal Young, alias Savoie, alias Savage, stole it all and ran away, and had not been heard from since, until it turns out that he is the murderer of Rose Vincent.

MESSRS FIELD, ROBERTSON & CO., have recently made some very extensive improvements in their establishment on Hammond street, having put in a new steam engine, to accommodate which, they have built on an addition to the rear of their shop with a chimney sixty feet high. On the second floor there is a bandsaw, turning lathe, jig and circular saws, all of which are in charge of Joseph Nason, which is a guarantee of good work. They have been to a large expense in fitting up, and being located near the centre of the business part of the city, they will no doubt command a good share of the public patronage.

BUSKIN CLUB.

A Second Presentation of "Partners For Life."

A fine audience assembled at Norombega Hall last evening on the occasion of the second presentation of "Partners for Life," by the Buskin Club. The play was presented even better than on Tuesday evening. The acting by the different characters was exceedingly fine, and deserved a warmer recognition than it received from the audience. As on the former occasion the stage settings were elegant and one would travel a long way before they would see a stage dressed better, or even as well as it was in the first scene of the play last evening. The library scene was also very fine, the large book case and the open fire place, in which a cheerful fire was burning, made the room look decidedly inviting. Mr. Andrews Orchestra did much to add enchantment to the entertainment, their music being as beautiful as it was difficult to render. The following choice selections were given during the evening: Overture—"National," Wiegand; Selections, from "Chilperic," Herve; Suite de Valses, par Desblins; Cornet Medley, Ripley. As on the first evening Mrs. Shaw sang a fine selection. She was in good voice, and her singing well merited the applause which it received at the hands of the audience.

The entertainment closed with the burlesque, "Bombastes Furioso." It was full of laughable situations, and the Buskins interspersed numerous local hits which made it immensely popular with the audience. One of the best features was the take off on the way the club rooms were formerly run in the city. The cast was as follows: King Artaxominous, Mr. E. M. Hersey; Fusbos, his Prime Minister, Mr. J. E. M. Sanford; Major General Bombastes, Mr. F. A. Cowan; Distaffina a gushing damsel, Mr. V. Scott. This is the last appearance of the Buskins for the season, but we hope that during the next season we shall be favored with numerous entertainments by this popular Club.

SUPREME JUDICIAL COURT.

APRIL (CIVIL) TERM, 1878.

HON. JOHN APPLETON, Justice Presiding.
JAMES H. BURGESS, Clerk of Courts.
EUREL SMITH, Stenographer.

Wednesday April 17.

The case of Frank D. Bowley vs. Eugene F. Sanger, which is now occupying the attention of the Court has been tried once before in this city, and resulted in a disagreement of the Jury.

Plaintiff resides in Alton and is Station Agent of the Bangor & Piscataquis Railroad Company at that place. Defendant is a physician and surgeon in regular practice in Bangor and vicinity. The plaintiff had, while cutting out of the ice a stick of wood, received upon his leg near the knee a severe blow from a piece of the stick. He employed Dr. Seavey to treat the injured limb, upon which an abscess had formed on or near the knee, and below the same. Subsequently, becoming impatient with his progress toward a cure, he employed the defendant, who on the 11th day of August 1876, performed a surgical operation on plaintiff's knee.

Plaintiff charges that defendant in the operation cut out from over the delicate structures of the knee a piece of flesh about three inches long and about two inches wide, exposing the bone; he claims this cutting was rash, needless and resulted in such a condition of things as to render amputation necessary, that the cutting and such treatment was gross mal-practice and he brings his action on the case to recover $12,000 as damages for the injury claimed to have been inflicted upon him by said alleged mal-practice.

Defendant affirms he did not cut out a piece of flesh, that he made only one simple incision, with a side one opening a sinus; that the operation was done carefully and skillfully and that the condition of the knee was such as to render the operation he did perform absolutely necessary; that Bowley had for a long time previous a lame leg resulting from an old injury; that this old injury complicated the last injury to the knee; that what he did do was good practice backed by good authority.

The case was opened by the counsel for the plaintiff last Monday and they have put all of their evidence in. The council for the defence opened to-day.

In politics the papers will continue to advocate and uphold the Principles of the Republican Party, while claiming to be independent, in the highest and best sense of the word. Fearless and outspoken in the treatment of all public questions and firmly maintaining what they believe to be right, they will avoid intolerance and make their appeals to the understanding rather than to prejudice. The year about to open will be fruitful of unusually important political events bearing upon the future of our country, and it will be our aim to afford our readers the earliest and most reliable information and to favor only such measures and policy as will best protect the rights and promote the welfare of all the people.

HOME INTERESTS,

as affected by the development of the resources of Maine, will receive special attention, and whatever is calculated to stimulate or benefit in the State will be heartily encouraged. We rigidly exclude from our columns everything of an immoral tendency, avoid sensational matter and seek to make a thoroughly reliable paper which will be welcome

LETTER CARRIERS.

All letters are delivered free by carriers when addressed to street and number. People should inform their correspondents of above and have their letters addressed accordingly.

Persons leaving their address at the General Delivery can also have their letters sent, but it is much more convenient to have the street and number on, and they will be delivered earlier than if the same is put on at the office. Carriers make two deliveries daily, the first trip supplying the extremes of their routes.

Collections are made morning and evening in season for important mails—the down town boxes fifteen and the up town boxes thirty minutes before closing mails at the office.

Holidays the Carrier's Window will be open for the delivery of letters from 8½ to 9½ A. M., and from 7½ to 8 P. M. Sundays from 8½ to 9½ A. M.

Any irregularities in the Carriers' department should be reported to the office.

ENVELOPES.

No additional charge will be made for printing the name and request to return, across the left hand upper corner of the envelopes furnished by the Post Office Department (samples of which may be seen at the Cashier's window,) when ordered in lots of not less than 500.

A request for the return of a letter to the writer, if uncalled for within thirty days, or less, written or printed, with the writer's name, post-office and State, across the left end of the envelope, on the face side, will be complied with.

The public are earnestly recommended to procure Stamped envelopes with printed return request, as the expense is less, and letters thus endorsed, if not delivered to the person addressed, are returned to the writer free of charge.

First class envelopes of above furnished at $22.80 per thousand.

Stamps cut from Stamped Envelopes cannot be used to prepay postage. The use of such Stamps is punishable by a fine of fifty dollars.

Stamped Envelopes, spoiled in directing, are redeemed at this office.

DOMESTIC POSTAGE.

All Letters must be Pre-paid.—Letters for the Mails in the United States, three cents the half ounce or single rate. City letters, two cents half ounce or single rate.
